HAVE SIGNED CONTRACT FOR SUGAR FACTORY

John A. Hendrickson's View of the Present Sugar Factory Controversy

Sugar is king, and judging from the present activity not only in the price of the article itself, and sugar stocks, it is likely to remain so for some time. In Cache county another phase of the question is on in real earnest, and it begins to look as though we are to have two new sugar factories. Recently the Amalgamated Sugar Company announced a new factory for the west side, and now our fellow townsman John A. Hendrickson breaks silence and tells us all about a new factory that he and influential and wealthy associates have decided to build. In discussing the matter Mr. Hendrickson submitted the following:

"The people of West Cache have recently been made to believe in the saying 'that blessings like adversity come in streaks.' For a long time they have been praying for a sugar factory without being able to reach a listening ear. The Amalgamated Sugar Company have several times been approached by the Trenton people with the request that a factory be built west of the Bear river, but their pleadings have always fallen on deaf ears.

"About two months ago large land owners of the west side took the matter up with me. I at once conferred with Salt Lake associates who took the matter under advisement and after looking into the situation, we all concluded that West Cache was an ideal location for another sugar factory. The question naturally arose whether the farmers would raise the necessary beet acreage and this was answered by a canvass made by Abraham Jorgenson and Charles Wood among the farmers, who secured the signatures of farmers, promising to raise over 4000 acres for the years 1917-1918-1919. The assurance was also given that at least 1000 and possibly 2000 additional acres could be secured when Newton and Clarkston and other parts were canvassed.

"When this was done, the matter of securing the construction of a factory was taken up with builders of sugar factories and an agreement was entered into for a factory of 500 tons daily capacity to be erected in time for the 1917 beet crop. When officers of the Amalgamated Sugar Company at Ogden, heard of this recent move, they immediately took steps to intervene and post haste sent Joseph Seeweroff, Fred Taylor and Merrill Nibley, to Logan. Here were re-informed with Mariner Eccles, and then rushed to Trenton and held a meeting with about 25 farmers at the home of P. P. Bingham and there promised the Trenton people that they would build a sugar factory and also a railroad if they would confine themselves and their interests to them.

We had promised the people that the factory should be an independent one and that the factory should be an independent one and that the beet raisers of that section, as well as others in Cache who might desire to invest, should have the privilege of taking stock in the new enterprise.

At the meeting above mentioned, the question was put to the Amalgamated Sugar Company if the people might have the privilege of subscribing stock and they were told that this would not be permitted, but they could of course, buy sugar stock on the open market if they cared to invest. They further promised that if it was necessary they would put up a bond of $250,000 insuring the establishment of the factory.

The Trenton farmers were very much astonished at this sudden move, but they realized that there was something back of the whole proceedings that had been the cause of such sudden action and kindly promises.

We are not and were not at all antagonistic to the other Utah companies, but were simply complying with the request and wishes of the people of the West Cache district.

The difference between the two interests seems to be simply this: We took hold of the matter in the first place by request and because we believed the location ideal and the investment one of the safest that can be made.

Among those who are associated with Mr. Hendrickson in the enterprise are, George T. Odell of the Farmers & Stockgrowers Bank; John Dern and W. W. Armstrong of the Copper National Bank; John C. Sharp of the Deseret National Bank; G. G. Wright of the Con. Wagon & Machine Co., and (probably) Jesse Knight of Provo. The above with J. A. Hendrickson, have subscribed $150,000 of the stock and propose that the farmers of Trenton, who will raise the beets and who may wish to subscribe for stock and others of Cache Valley, shall be given the privilege of subscribing at least $100,000 of the proposed capital.

The above people do not object, in fact are perfectly willing that the Utah-Idaho and the Amalgamated Sugar Companies shall have the other $250,000, making up the capital of $500,000. The proposition offered to the Trenton people by the Amalgamated Sugar Company was simply that the Amalgamated would build a sugar factory and own the stock and the people of that section were to raise the beets. Inasmuch as the farmers who raise the beets are really the ones who are responsible for the profits to the sugar company, we feel it is only proper and right that the beet raisers who have a little money to invest shall be given the privilege of participating in the profits.

Now that the time has come when the tariff question is undoubtedly settled for a period of five years and sugar stock unquestionably will for a long time remain sufficiently high to enable a factory to pay for itself two or three times in the course of four or five years, the ordinary man who may have a little cash is not now given an opportunity to invest his earnings in a safe enterprise which he takes part in building up by these large sugar interests. We need only to refer to the incident connected with the Layton factory located between Ogden and Salt Lake. This was promoted by individuals who proposed to build the factory outside of any connection with the present companies.

The other companies, however realized it would take from them about 2000 acres of beets, and they felt they were entitled to participate in the stock holdings. The matter was accordingly settled by the Utah-Idaho Company subscribing $100,000, the Amalgamated $100,000, and the Church $50,000. The remaining $250,000 was taken by individual subscription. Only 2500 acres of beets were raised last year, but the factory did well and the stock cannot be bought today from any source for less than $175 per share.

My Salt Lake and other associates are practically all stockholders in the Amalgamated and Utah-Idaho Sugar Companies, and are not unfriendly to them, but insist that while they are willing that these companies shall hold not over 50 per cent of the stock, the balance shall be distributed among the people of Cache Valley who may want to become interested themselves. The contract for the building of the factory is entered into, 4000 acres of beets have been promised and additional acreage will be asked for.

Subscription lists will now be opened in Logan, Smithfield, Trenton, Newton and Clarkston and all who wish to subscribe to the stock will be given an opportunity, up to an amount round about $100,000. The contract for the building of the factory is signed up and 10 per cent of the subscription will have to be paid on or before the 15th of June. 75 per cent will be divided into eight payments ranging along the period of construction which will be between August 1 this year, and October 1 next year. The remaining 15 per cent is to be paid 30 days after the factory is completed, in running order, and accepted.

The case of Thomas Smart versus John E. Miles, in which the plaintiff sought damages for timber taken from his land by the defendant was compromised on Thursday, when a stipulation was effected by which a restraining order is issued with the defendant's consent. He agrees to keep off the land as soon as he saws up what logs are now lying there. In the case of W. P. Dopp versus the O. S. L. the jury gave the plaintiff a verdict for $120, for two animals that the company killed on its tracks.

FRANKLIN MAN BADLY HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Joseph Scarborough, one of the best known citizens of Franklin county, residing at Franklin met with a most serious accident Wednesday evening when his automobile turned turtle throwing him from the machine, breaking six ribs and otherwise shaking him up.

Mr. Scarborough was on his way to his ranch west of Riverdale. He had crossed the Bear River and also the West Cache Canal bridge. At the latter point there is a sharp turn in the road and an uphill grade, just as he was about to make the turn up the grade, he reached to shift gears, when a slight turn of the steering wheel put the machine off the grade. It turned over a couple of times and lighted right side up in the canal. He was thrown into the water. This seemed to revive him from the shock and he was able to crawl to the bank where he lay for two hours.

John Farnes and John M. Mitchell of Riverdale were passing and they found him in an unconscious condition and took him to the states hospital at Preston where he is in a very critical condition at this time.

JOSIE BULLEN LAID TO REST AT RICHMOND

Many Friends Gather to Pay a Last Tribute to the Memory of Good Woman

Funeral services were held Thursday over the remains of Mrs. Mary Josephine Bullen, widow of the late Herschel Bullen of Richmond. The services consisted of two meetings, one at the family residence in Logan and the other at the Richmond tabernacle at 2 p. m.

MRS. MARY J. BULLEN

It was consoling to the members of the family to see the large number of friends their mother had made and how they were all willing and ready to offer a helping hand and a word of cheer to the bereaved, all of whom felt they had lost the dearest and most loyal friend and associate in the whole world.

The services at the residence were presided over by Bishop B. G. Thatcher. Miss Mitton, Mr. Bailey and Mr. Mitton furnished the music for the services. The opening prayer was offered by Prest. Serge F. Ballif.

J. W. Funk of Richmond, the first speaker, paid a high tribute to deceased, speaking of her as a most loving and devoted mother and a generous and impartial neighbor.

Moses Thatcher Jr., a neighbor to Mrs. Bullen in Logan, spoke feelingly of the brief but friendly association of his family with the Bullens and the great loss it would be to them is the laying away of Mrs. Bullen.

The benediction was pronounced by Joseph E. Wilson Jr.

Following the services a long automobile procession followed the auto hearse to Richmond where the remains were taken. They were viewed by Richmond friends at the home of Cyrus Bullen until 2 o'clock when a large gathering of friends assembled at the tabernacle for a continuance of the services.

Bishop T. H. Merrill presided at these services.

CLUB MEMBERS LEARN ABOUT CHAUTAUQUA

Able Speaker Entertains Audience With Most Interesting Talk. Explains Class of Entertainment

J. C. Herbman of the Ellison-White Chautauqua Bureau was in attendance at the Commercial Club meeting Wednesday evening and gave a most entertaining talk along general lines, although his mission was for the purpose of explaining the real purpose of Chautauqua and what the program for the Cache Valley Chautauqua, at Logan June 14 to 21, has to offer. The speaker said the Chautauqua was moral but not a revival or churchy, instructive and educational but not bookish, entertaining but not theatrical or a circus.

This great week of entertainment at Logan will be in a large tent that will accommodate upwards of 2000 people. There will be two performances during the day and one evening for an entire week which will consist of an entire change of program at each performance, bringing together the world's greatest talent.

Mr. Herbman gave a most excellent talk relative to town loyalty, community development, advertising, etc. He also advised very strongly the necessity of preparedness and the organization of a troop of cavalry and an infantry company in Cache Valley.

After the meeting the local Chautauqua signers met and appointed the following organizing committee to effect a Chautauqua organization: P. A. Thatcher, J. W. Morrell, J. C. Allen, George W. Skidmore, A. L. Cole, Dr. W. G. Ruckelbrod, Reid Shanhart and J. L. Coburn. The committee met on Friday evening and effected the organization.
